

The State Diagram is showing the app itself. When the app is initializing, it will load recipes from a database, then after that the app will load and display a recipe. So, I was trying to show basically when and how the state of the app changes.